

ED. PATTERSON'S USE OF ENGINE OF CO. ASSAILED

President of County Commissioners Stops Road Work to Thresh His Grain, Charge

ALSO GOT CONVICT HELP

Commissioner Ward Asks Court to Stop Use of County Property for Private Gain

Action has been started in the Burleigh county district court by Birlea O. Ward, county commissioner, to restrain E. G. Patterson, county commissioner, and Warden Stair of the penitentiary from using a road engine owned by the county to do threshing on the Patterson farm near the penitentiary land.

Judge Nuesse denied an injunction restraining these officials from using the engine, but issued an order directing them to show cause why they should not be restrained from using public property for the alleged private purposes as set up in the complaint filed in the district court by F. E. McCurdy, attorney for Mr. Ward.

The order is returnable Saturday afternoon when the controversy will be presented to the court.

Warden Stair stated today that it has been customary for the penitentiary rig to do threshing for farmers in the immediate vicinity. He declares that he charges these farmers the same price that he pays on his own farm in Bottineau county. The rate charged, he said, is $14.50 an hour and the farmer furnishes his own coal where threshing is done out of the stack.

"I am charging Mr. Patterson," said Warden Stair, "$25 a day and furnishing the coal. One of our engines broke down and application was made for one of the road engines.

"I understand there is some dispute over the matter and have been directed to appear in court Saturday in answer to an order.

The position of Commissioner Ward is set forth in the complaint. It takes the stand that as custodian of public property he is responsible for the equipment. Commissioner Ward is also opposed to the manner in which request was made for the equipment.

It seems that the road equipment is allotted equally to each of the five county commissioners. Mr. Ward's equipment was in Bismarck undergoing repairs and was considered most available so when the penitentiary engine broke down, Mr. Patterson suggested to Pat Kelley, penitentiary foreman, that the county engine might be obtained to replace the state engine at work on his farm.

During the negotiations for the county engine a controversy arose over the advisability of allowing public property to be put to this use and the legal steps were then taken by Commissioner Ward to settle the matter for all future time.

The county engine was used Thursday, but not put into action today. Word was sent into town that the chairman of the board of county commission might dig potatoes until after the court decided what liberties could be taken with public property for private uses.

The complaint is made by Mr. Ward on behalf of himself, as a county commissioner and as a representative of taxpayers.

Taxpayers Lose
Mr. Ward alleges that the Aultman-Taylor gasoline tractor, a grader and other road-making equipment was assigned to him as county commissioner to be used in making roads in his district. He was charged with the responsibility and management of this property and he has cared for and managed the operation of the road-making machinery during the season of 1920.

He further says "that there is other work to be done in his district and that the use of the county engine for private purposes is a gross misappropriation of public property."

Roads Neglected
The Aultman-Taylor tractor is a valuable piece of machinery, the complaint says, and further "that the roads, public highways in the county commissioner's district for which the said road-making machinery was designated are not being improved because of the want of this Aultman-Taylor gasoline tractor, and that the said Aultman-Taylor gasoline tractor is being worn, used and damaged by the defendants for the benefit of said E. G. Patterson and without compensation to Burleigh county and without authority in law or otherwise; that the plaintiff believes that unless the said defendants are restrained in their conduct in taking the said Aultman-Taylor gasoline tractor from the public work of road-making in the county and using the same for the personal private benefit of the said E. G. Patterson that they will continue to do so to the further detriment and damage of the taxpayers of Burleigh county, North Dakota, and the destruction of public property.

The petition asks the court for a permanent injunction permanently restraining the defendants from using the county engine for private purposes. (Continued on Page Six.)

BANQUET IS BIG SUCCESS

W. E. Sharp, Who Passes Ordination Exams Once Ran Dance Hall

One hundred and fifty-five persons sat down at the banquet for the State Baptist convention which was held last evening in the parlors of the Methodist church. Rev. J. S. York, Grand Forks, presided as toastmaster and called on the following: Mrs. Jesse L. Bishop, New York; Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Far. J. H. Norcross, New York; and Dr. S. G. Neil, Philadelphia, and Dr. E. E. Jordan, the new pastor of the local Baptist church. A duet was sung by George Humphreys and Henry Halvorsen.

The last session of the convention will be held this evening at the First Baptist church. Dr. J. E. Norcross will give an address, and Dr. S. G. Neil will conduct a consecration service. Dr. Norcross will remain in the city for the next ten days to hold revival services at the local church. From here he goes to Fargo and Grand Forks to hold similar missions.

A conference on Evangelism was held this morning by Dr. Norcross, in which he reported that there was no set method of evangelizing, that each pastor must have his own way. He said that he believed in the personal appeal method, and plans during the next six months, to spend the time from two until five each afternoon calling with the local pastors at the homes of those who are not in church work.

Mrs. Jesse Bishop, New York, spoke on the work which women might do in revival campaigns. She spoke of forming prayer circles, visiting teams, follow-up subscription teams, and of the golden rule, which could be accomplished by personal workers.

"The New Evangelism" was the subject of a stirring address by Rev. S. G. Neil. "Our greatest opportunity today for service in the churches is with the young members. When we put our hands on the heads of the young, we are placing them on the hearts of their parents," said Dr. Neil.

Dr. P. C. Wright of New York, gave a meditation on the "Ability of God." He said that improvements—movies, dances, economic improvements, social advances, etc., could all be converted to the glory of God. "We are making a mistake," said the speaker, "when we try to bring about twentieth century renovations with seventeenth century methods. It cannot be done."

WRIT OF REPLEVIN TO GET DICE BACK
MEMPHIS—John Gohmert wanted his playing back. John got a writ of replevin from Judge E. G. Patterson, county commissioner, to get the dice back from the chief of return to his own place. The dice, valued at $10, were seized when John was arrested. The writ was issued by Judge Patterson, who said the dice were the property of John Gohmert and should be returned to him.

CITY INCREASE IS FAR BEYOND THAT OF FARMS

Census Bureau Estimates Population of United States at About 105,000,000

SMALL HAMLETS GROWING

Large Cities of Country, However, Show Greatest Jump in Population

Washington, Oct. 1.—Cities are increasing in population seven and a half times as fast as the rural districts, the census bureau disclosed in a compilation of figures covering approximately 85 per cent of the new census. The figures indicated that the completed census would show the majority of the population to be city dwellers.

For the last 10 years, rural growth was but one-third as great as it was in the previous decade, but the cities almost maintained their rate of growth, getting five new inhabitants from 1910 to 1920 for each six added during the preceding 10 years. All population centers, even the small country hamlets and towns, showed a greater proportionate increase than the purely rural districts. The greatest increases, however, were by cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants.

While the bureau attempts no explanation of the reasons for the increasing migration to the cities each year during the last decade, presumably higher wages, shorter working days and home conveniences attracted the rural population, especially during the war.

Total Near 105,000,000

Although showing a check in the rate of population growth for the country as a whole, the figures indicated that the complete census would place the total number of inhabitants of the continental United States at approximately 105,768,100, a gain of 13,795,840, or 15 per cent. Cities will absorb practically all of this increase. It being estimated that an increase of 12,172,700 comes from towns of 2,500 or more inhabitants, while 1,623,040 were added to the farms and the small hamlets.

Such a movement of the people will place the urban population at approximately 57,736,100 and the rural population at 48,032,000. In 1910, the rural population outstripped that of the cities by almost 7,000,000 people, there being 49,918,883 in the country and 42,923,383 in the cities.

Rural Growth Lessens

"For several centuries," said the bureau announcement, "the country has not been growing as rapidly as the city, but the difference appears to be greater at this census than ever before."

The urban population, the announcement added, increased at a rate of 25.2 per cent, while that of the rural districts, including the villages and towns under 2,500 population, was 3.4 per cent. For the strictly farm territory the rate was 3.2 per cent and that of the villages was 4.7 per cent.

Among the urban centers, cities exceeding 50,000 increased at 26.4 per cent, those of 10,000 to 50,000 at 26.7 per cent, and those of 2,500 to 10,000 at 18.8 per cent. From 1900 to 1910, the percentage rate of increase for these three classifications of cities were 35.6, 33.7 and 27.8, respectively.

Up to 10 days ago, the announcement said, the count of population, estimated at 95 per cent complete, had reached 92,098,281. For purposes of comparison between city and country the bureau reduced the figure to 90,556,912 by eliminating the population of the insular possessions, and places in the United States for which comparison was deemed inadvisable because of new boundaries.

Of this total population, that classified as urban was reported as 52,494,749, the cities of 50,000 population having 32,533,038 inhabitants, those of 10,000 to 50,000, having 11,771,224 and those of 2,500 to 10,000 having 8,190,487. The rural population was 38,062,961 in the country districts and 6,066,032 in villages under 2,500 in population.

SHIPSTEAD AND OTHERS ROBBED

Carlton, Minn., Oct. 1.—Two masked bandits held up and robbed six men in the waiting room of the Northern Pacific station just after midnight this morning, getting away with $146.47, four gold watches, a revolver and a special policeman's badge. Among those robbed was Dr. Henrik Shipstead, Nonpartisan candidate for Governor of Minnesota, who lost $70 and a gold watch.

The robbers forced Robert Anderson to take them with his automobile through Duluth to West Superior.

GEESSE MIGRATE TOWARD SOUTH

Duluth, Oct. 1.—Wild geese are now flying south. Mostly they fly at night but a wedged passed over Duluth after daybreak today. They were several thousand feet up and apparently on a migratory flight. The early flight of geese, unlike wild ducks, which leave with the first frost is taken here by weather-wise people as indicating an early winter. Wild geese are supposed to stay at their breeding grounds until apprehensive of a freeze-up.

TWO PRISONERS GET OFF BREAD AND WATER DIET

Order Being Maintained at Penitentiary After the Prisoners "Strike"

ONE CONVICT WAS SHOT

Stopping of Poker Games of Prisoners in Each Other's Cells Prompted Rebellion

With one prisoner in the hospital, wounded by a shot from a gun in the hands of a guard, and 46 prisoners on bread and water diets in solitary confinement, order is being maintained at the state penitentiary, where 46 prisoners went on "strike" this week, according to officials.

The prisoners who took part in the strike probably will be denied the privilege of appearing before the state pardon board this fall and asking for clemency, it is said. The matter is now under discussion. Some of the prisoners, records had been considered good by members of the board.

Convict Black, who was shot by a guard when the 48 prisoners refused to go back to their cells or to go to work, is in a local hospital. One other shot was fired, it is said, but no one was hurt.

Stopped Poker Games

The cause for the "strike" became known today. Warden L. L. Stair had issued an order forbidding prisoners from visiting in each other's cells. This put a stop to poker games which the prisoners have been having, and aroused deep resentment among them.

Two of the 48 who participated in the strike have been released from the bread and water diet by authorities. It is understood they made "satisfactory amends" for their part in the affair. There were about seven convicts who led the gang into defying the guards, it is said. Whether they have been cast in the prison dungeon or given more severe punishment than the others is not known. A general tightening up of prison restrictions is expected to result from the little rebellion.

CLOSE UNION SHOWN BETWEEN N. P. AND I. W. W.

Farmer, Says Red Lender, Enemy of the Working Man as Much as City People

URGES DIRECT ACTION

Should Seize as Soon as Possible All Means of Production is Advice

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 1.—"We are not helping the Nonpartisan League but the Nonpartisan League is helping us."

So said "John Smith," I. W. W. organizer, one of the 200 or more "Wobblies" attending the I. W. W. convention being held here under the aegis, and protection of the Nonpartisan League state administration.

John Smith was not his real name. He admitted that frankly, and also admitted that he had excellent reasons for not using the name by which he was baptized. He was plainly an educated man, although he spoke with a slight foreign accent. German, or Russian, it was impossible to say which.

His remark about the Nonpartisan League was called forth by a question from the correspondent. We had met casually at the Great Northern railway coach counter, and food had loosened his tongue to some extent.

"How do you figure that the Nonpartisan League is helping you?" He was asked.

"Simply enough," he answered. "The doctrine that the leaders of the league are preaching is essentially the same as that of the I. W. W. We carry it a step further to its logical conclusion, that's the only difference."

"The leaders of the Nonpartisan League are telling the farmers and working people that they are being robbed by the business men. We tell the working people the same thing but go a step further and show them, especially the farm workers, that they are being robbed by the farmers as well as by the business men."

"When a man has once been thoroughly inoculated with the Townley propaganda he is generally about ready to take the next step and accept our theories too."

"But surely that doesn't apply to the farmers," I said.

"Don't expect it to 'Take' Smith replied. "We don't expect it to. It does apply however to the men who make the laws, the judges, and the police, and to the whole capitalist system and it does reach the farm laborers and other workers immediately."

"You see very radical movement, whether it is the Nonpartisan League or the more radical trade unions, teaches the lesson of oppression by the upper classes. Once get a man to believing that he is oppressed, and then he is ripe to join us, so every convert that the Nonpartisan League makes is a potential convert for us."

"Mind you we have no use for the farmers. We maintain that every farmer who farms more land than he can actually till, and take care of by himself is just as much a robber as John D. Rockefeller himself. But just the same these farmers help to preach our gospel of discontent, and so make converts for us."

"Then you approve of the Nonpartisan League doctrine as far as it goes?"

"Certainly," he responded. "It is a great help to us, as have pointed out. Besides, the more radical the league leaders, are more radical than the rank and file of the organization. Their sympathies are with us, and as you can see for yourself they give us as much support as they can without getting in bad with the farmers on whose support they must depend."

"At present the Nonpartisan League is forming alliances with the radical elements of organized labor. We approve that plan thoroughly."

"When the labor element has become fully converted to the Nonpartisan League idea, it will inevitably realize that the farmers are exploiting the wage earners in the same way the business men are and that the I. W. W. principles are the logical conclusion of Townley's premises, and as a result the labor element now aligned with Nonpartisan League will inevitably swing into the ranks of the I. W. W."

"And then what?" I asked.

"Then the Italian strike," he said. "And then," said John Smith, pausing for a moment thoughtfully. "Well, you noticed what happened in Italy a few days ago, the workers took by force, control of the factories and other means of production we will do the same thing here."

"Where do your agricultural laborers come in there?" I asked.

"I said the workers would seize the means of production," repeated John Smith, significantly. "That includes the agricultural workers as well as the others."

You mean they will take the land? (Continued on Page Six.)

HARDING URGES ACTION BEHIND VOLSTEAD LAW

Condemns Law Enforcement of Prohibition Act "Without Qualification"

FOR A NEW DEPARTMENT

Tells Women U. S. Needs a Department of Public Welfare in Government

Marion, Oct. 1.—Law enforcement of prohibition was condemned "without qualification" today by Senator Warren Harding in a front porch speech outlining a policy or organized federal effort for the promotion of social justice and welfare.

Addressing a gathering of women, the Republican nominee proposed establishment of a "department of public welfare" in the national government and added that in his opinion law enforcement was one of the important requisites of social progress.

Senator Harding took social justice for the theme of his address. "When making the proposal for a department of public welfare to America," he said, "I am aware that I have made a step in advance of any platform. I have chosen to speak to you on the practical question—the question of how-to-do the things we must do, the things American conscience is calling to have done."

Welfare of the women and children of the nation was dominated the first interests of the new federal department advocated by Senator Harding. The scope of its interests, he said, would include equal pay for equal work by women, the eight hour day for women, fostering of appointment of women to positions on federal and state boards of employment, labor adjustment, etc., where women were concerned, and normal labor for women on the farms.

Regarding industrial workers, both men and women, Senator Harding said he believed the government could assist in abolishing unsteady employment. The unrest arising from this source, he said, is "not a condition to be remedied alone by federal employment bureaus filling in the gaps of unemployment, but rest largely upon conditions of industry which make for seasonal production and periodical closing and opening of industrial plants and occupations. I am ennobled of an optimist to believe that government can assist in the abolition of this unfortunate condition."

Government's Part
Senator Harding added that he thought that the government could "take a large part in the second and, perhaps, even more important campaign" to make highly specialized unskilled labor interesting. He viewed it as "our duty as a whole people to see if we cannot make every job in the country a small business of its own."

Among activities coming under such a new federal department Senator Harding named the children's bureau and the various health agencies of the federal government. The work of the children's bureau, Senator Harding said, must be extended and made still more capable of educating and assisting in pre-natal care and early infancy.

Next to maternity and childhood he said he believed attention must be centered upon the public health. While "alert to the dangers of too much oppressive bureaucracy in any great federal health bureau," he declared he wanted to see the "various agencies grouped together in a department of public welfare," for the promotion of the most active and sufficient campaign against low standards of physical well-being.

In advancing his proposal of a new federal department, Senator Harding said:

"While others may have their eyes fixed upon some particular piece of legislation, or some particular policy of social justice which calls for the sympathetic interest of us all, I say, without hesitation, that our primary consideration must be the machinery of administrative government, and that when the time comes for us to organize our administration in Washington, we must all stand together in recognition of a department of public welfare."

Wasted Effort

"It is almost useless for us to go on expending our energies in advancing humanitarian policies which we wish put into effect, and it is useless for us to hope for the effective administration of humanitarian policies already undertaken by the federal government, until we have prepared to create an administrative center for the application of our program."

At the present time we find social welfare bureaus and social welfare undertakings scattered hopelessly through the departments, sometimes the one overlapping the work of the other, and sometimes, indeed, engaging in bickerings between themselves. The picture is one of inefficiency and of wasted funds."

Against paternalism Senator Harding struck vigorous warning. "In creating federal departments for the administration of social justice and social welfare, we must avoid the fearful results of bureaucracy," he said.

When we create in Washington a strong federal government and undertake even the most humanitarian reforms, new federal burdens, let us say, by this means put upon the spirit, the sense of duty, and the activities of the communities and neighborhoods of the United States."

"Reprisals will ruin discipline. They cannot be countenanced by those in authority. PLAN FACTORY FOR STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITY

Would Aid Men in Working Their Way Through Texas University

San Antonio Tex., Oct. 1.—There is something new under the sun. Students of Texas State University have found it.

It is the "student-owned factory," where young men, whose financial circumstances would ordinarily prevent them from attending college, can earn sufficient to put themselves through school.

D. J. Woodward, president of the new company, explains it thus:

"Many young men desire to attend college but cannot do so because of their finances. Previously a few students at each institution could secure jobs waiting on table, or like work. They made a few dollars a week."

"Sam Sparks, J. A. Nichols and R. G. Ogden, local business men, conceived the idea of aiding these students to make more than a few dollars a week by finding some work for them which would not beget returns."

"There's need for automobile bodies, box cars and ready-made houses. Still these goods can be built without great cash."

"We talked the matter over with the U. S. government. Close by the State University is Penn Field, with many brick buildings, formerly used by the army. We were offered this cheap. Then we purchased some machinery."

Chance for All
"This year every student will be given a chance to put in his spare time in that factory. He will be paid by the piece of work. He can make as much as he will."

"We hope to see the plant become student-owned. Since it is for boys whose finances are not the best, we do not know just how this is going to be worked out, however."

"Some day there will come a solution, however, and the students themselves will be able to take over the factory. Here youths attending the university can work, earning more than enough to see themselves through school. There will be work for one or a thousand."

Students enrolling for the school term here, have taken to the plan. Already over 100 applications for places in the new factory have been received.

I. W. W. LEADER ENDORSES N. P. LEAGUE REGIME

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 1.—Direct action to enforce the rights of the workingmen is being freely urged by speakers at the convention of the I. W. W. agricultural workers' branches which is meeting here by the grace of Governor Lynn J. Frazier. As a first manifestation of this direct action, one of the speakers urged that the Wobblies attending this convention insist on riding the passenger trains on leaving New Rockford, with their red cards for tickets. "The trainmen have no right to put you off," they are being told. "There are enough of you here to make them let you ride free."

Told to Affiliate With League
The convention is in executive session today, and from what little could be learned of the session, this afternoon is largely engaged in the discussion of ways and means. "Big Bill" Haywood, who was the chief speaker at the opening session, has left for Boston. In the course of his address he took occasion to pay a high tribute to the Nonpartisan league, apparently well deserved, since it is largely through the protection promised to the Wobblies by Governor Frazier that this meeting is being held. "You boys want to affiliate with the Nonpartisan league," he told the I. W. W. members. "The Nonpartisan league is a very good thing, although just now it doesn't go quite far enough."

"Men Have Rights in Russia"
Mr. Haywood's plan for solving the present problems of this country is simplicity itself. "Give me 50,000 active I. W. W.'s and a million more to back them up, and we'll seize the industries of the country whether the capitalists like it or not," he told his audience. The present system in Russia came in for high praise. "Men have rights in Russia," he declared. He also spoke highly in favor of the communist system of education which prevails in Russia.

One of the speakers this morning delivered a vicious attack on the entire system of ownership of farm lands. "Any man who owns more land than he can cultivate with his own hands is a robber—just as much of a robber as the biggest capitalist in the country," he declared, and others. Many of the I. W. W. members present are expressing themselves as being in favor of more direct action and less talk.

Wants to See Action.
"We have had enough of talk, let's start doing things," one impromptu speaker said to a group of Wobblies on one of the street corners this afternoon, and the sentiment seemed to meet with general approval. So far, with the exception of addresses of an incendiary nature there has been no disorder of any kind. The authorities, however, are keeping a close watch on all groups which congregate on the street. Special provisions are also being taken to prevent any liquor from being circulated among the crowd here for the convention, as it is feared that it might lead to violence. Twenty-seven quarts of whiskey were confiscated Monday night. On account of the cold weather which struck New Rockford this morning, it is likely that the convention will be brought to an end as soon as possible.

BUSIEST THOROUGHFARE IN WORLD IN CHICAGO, NATIVE SONS CLAIM

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The "busiest corner in the world" is at State and Madison streets—say Chicago native sons.

It doesn't look like it—it if you go 45 feet underground.

There, at intersecting tunnels, are signs on the walls showing that it's State and Madison. Not a bit of traffic, though—except an occasional trainload of cinders, earth from a building excavation or supplies for a hotel.

You can travel 65 miles in a network of tubes forming the Chicago tunnel system. Few Chicagoans know the tunnels exist, though engineers compare them to the Panama canal as an engineering feat.

Narrow-gauge railroad tracks carry freight trains that do the work of many thousands of horse teams and trucks daily relieving traffic on the crowded streets above.

Turtles in Tunnels

When a building is erected there are no long lines of wagons carrying earth and tying up traffic. A connection from the site is made with the tunnel system and the underground trains silently cart away everything from the excavation. It is carried to the lake front. The huge site of the new Field Museum was made by this sort of fill-in. Ashes, cinders, waste and coal are carried in the freight subway.

Also supplies to hotels. Which accounts for a number of turtles that live in the tunnels—turtles that fell off the train on the way to some hotel kitchen.

"Train crews always stop when they see a turtle on the tracks," said H. L. Creutz, superintendent of transportation. "They think its bad luck to run over a turtle."

All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Every body now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

GROWING LEMONS PASTIME IN THE CAPITAL CITY

Two lemons a year off his own lemon tree is the record of J. W. McLaughlin, 702 Second street, an employee at the state penitentiary. The tree is now fifteen years old and came to Bismarck as a small sprig from California.

In the winter it is kept inside but with the advent of summer is planted in the yard and seems to thrive very well. It is only able to support two lemons but grows a very fine variety.

Many of whom have already pledged themselves to the club, and a drive is now on to obtain the necessary number of charter members to support the club, so that it will be advisable to secure club rooms with adjoining tea rooms. A ready comfortable and convenient rooms have been located, and will be considered at this evening's meeting. A musical program for this evening has been arranged which is as follows: Piano, solo, Elizabeth Hapfel, solo dance, Katherine Roherty, reading, Miss Duratt, and vocal solo, Jennie Seibert. Following the regular business meeting the views on the need of the club will be presented by Mrs. Florence Davis, Miss Elsie Stark, Miss Albina Plattner, Dr. Alexander, and Glenn Bruce. Hanson, who leaves Bismarck this evening for Wisconsin where she will make her future home. A number of vocal numbers were given by Mrs. A. J. White, Mrs. H. M. Flarety, and Mrs. A. H. Barrett. Miss Hazel Tibbets gave a number of readings. At the close of the service of refreshments, Mrs. Hanson was presented with an attractive gold locket containing a rosary.

DR. CAROLINE CRANE

The evening session of the meetings to be held on Oct. 6, will be open to the general public. The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, Kalamazoo, Mich. The following emphasizes the many activities of Mrs. Crane.

It took twenty years' experience to develop Mrs. Crane into what she calls a "professional sanitarian." In 1899 the Rev. Caroline Bartlett was called to Kalamazoo, Michigan, to minister to the handful of people who still clung to the remnants of the Unitarian church left in the city. The Rev. Caroline Bartlett met her new congregation with something like dismay. She has just left her first parish in South Dakota where hardly a member was over forty years of age. Here the faithful remnant included, for the most part, gray-haired men and women. They needed a minister, they explained, for funerals.

In 1913, under the auspices of the state board of health, state department of agriculture and state federation of clubs, Mrs. Crane made a survey of thirteen leading cities in the state of Washington. Here, as in her state-wide campaigns, she was sworn in as a state health officer during the period of her survey.

Mrs. Crane had entered Montgomery, Alabama, at ten minutes past ten Tuesday morning. She left Montgomery on Saturday at the same hour. In the intervening four days she had inspected the waterworks, streets, alleys, sewer system, the incinerator, the county almshouse, two public schools for white children, two public schools for colored children, one high school, the Union Slaughter house, five dairies, four factories and one railroad shed (for the smoke nuisance), six bakeries, the city jail, the county jail, the anti-tuberculosis camp, the hospital for contagious diseases, the city laboratory and free dispensary, six meat markets, four restaurants, one cold storage plant, two moving picture shows, one railway station and one boarding house. Interviewed several city officials, made a study of the administration of the health department, was interviewed by several reporters and made seven speeches before various audiences.

The machinery of Mrs. Crane's household is intricate. The two maids work on an eight-hour schedule, at least one on duty every hour in the day. Every duty is carefully planned and the entire household co-operates. Minister to municipalities, someone has called her, and of all the titles invented to cover her peculiar field of work this is the one she likes best.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

BLOND ESKIMOS

Capt Joe Bernard has come back to Nome, Alaska, after spending four years in the Arctic hunting for blond Eskimos.

"Only brunets," the half dozen captain said he found.

It will be hard convincing the hardy captain that Stefansson didn't bleach his Eskimos before bringing them to civilization.

Future blond hunters in the Arctic will do well to take with them a liberal supply of peroxide.

But, anyway, why run up to the North Pole looking for blonds, when they may be found nearer home?

Apparently the bakers are experimenting and will achieve the vest-pocket-sized loaf soon.

THE PHOTOGRAPH

Daguerre, in 1820, discovered the principle used in making photographs. He worked on his idea 20 years, and in 1840 the first "sunlight picture" of a human face was made.

The initial success followed failure. Daguerre took an exposed plate from a camera one day, and, discouraged at his inability to make the plate retain the picture, tossed it into a cupboard. Next morning he found the picture on the plate. A dish of mercury, also in the cupboard, had done the work. From then to now the progress of photography has been rapid.

The centennial of the camera sees it snap a flying cannonball, picture a moving world, and catch the smallest wrinkle of the human face.

New York Socialists intend to elect legislators until the assembly gets tired of firing them.

TO INTERVENE

Brazil proposes a venture into government trading. A measure recently introduced in the Chamber of Deputies gives the government "power to intervene as buyer or seller" in commercial markets.

It isn't that the government intends wiping out private business, to engage in state socialism as a substitute to individual initiative, but that the government hopes to stand between the Brazilian producer and loss, and, when necessary, to come between the Brazilian consumer and loss.

The idea being nothing more than this: If prices drop below the cost of production—plus a fair profit—the government will buy of the products enough to hold up the price. When prices go too high—profiteering—then the government steps in and sells enough of the products to lower prices.

These miners' vacations would not be so annoying if Old Boreas would lay-off this winter.

UNDOING THEIR WORK

When German invaders came to the great French coal mines of Lens they dynamited walls and flooded mine shafts, not so much to "win the war" as to block French industrial progress after the war ended.

For that the Germans lost the Saar Basin coal fields.

Now it seems that Germany must not only stand by and see France consume Saar coal, but soon will witness the reopening of the Lens mines. France has worked heroically within Lens. With dynamite and pump the French reconstruction agencies have toiled early and late, making phenomenal progress in undoing the Germans' destruction.

Experts estimate that in 1922 more than a million tons of coal will be mined in sections already reopened.

HE COMES

Even before the dates for the world series are announced, yet, before the final games are played, a new actor strides upon the stage. In a thousand schools, big and little, and on a thousand fields, the football warrior strides.

Each, no doubt, in the solitude of his mind hopes to become a football Ruth, or Speaker or Cobb. And, no doubt, before the season ends, football will have its Chapman, too. But now, in the optimism of youth, the squads gather accoutered with all the panoply of the game, to spend sunny afternoons in learning sets of hysterical numbers, going through the mechanical tricks evolved by the game's higher minds. The novices fall on the ball, boot and pigskin into long, high spirals and do other things their superiors teach.

Well, let him come—this football hero. It is a great game. It builds up the boy physically, keeps him awake mentally, teaches him poise, self-reliance, self-control, initiative, coolness and speed, both in his mind action and his feet. His "day" comes, the day when he's king or vanished, either the Saturday before Thanksgiving or on Thanksgiving Day. Too bad all of 'em can't be winners.

William J. Bryan asserts that he is still a Democrat, but not for Cox for President. He says that at San Francisco the Constitution and the Ten Commandments were traded "for a glass of beer." That doesn't sound much like the silence of the grave. Bryan's is another voice in the air that must worry Cox.

It has taken the League of Nations three months to reach a tentative decision in the quarrel between Sweden and Finland over the Aland Islands. And now the League prays Finland and Sweden remain calm while it sends its investigators to examine the matter at issue at close range. Meanwhile, both parties to the controversy have had extra time in which to increase their armaments. The League enthusiasts who are indulging in premature applause should await apprehensively the outcome of the affair.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinions of The Tribune. They are sent here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

LET MR. COX EXPLAIN

Governor Cox may have to appear as a witness before the senate campaign fund investigation committee, unless H. E. Talbot, president of the Dayton Metal Products company and president of the City National Bank of Dayton, can clear up entirely the mystery of Mr. Cox's $5,000 note, which was drawn in favor of the bank and paid by the metal products company, according to testimony.

An investigator employed by the Frear aircraft inquiry committee of congress, it is testified, was unable to obtain any explanation of the $5,000 note transaction from officers of the metal products company.

Governor Cox will have to show what was done with the $5,000, which, presumably, he received when he signed the note. Somebody will have to prove that Cox reimbursed the metal products company for paying his note, if it can be proved. G. B. Lockwood, editor of the National Republican, when testifying in the campaign fund inquiry, drew an inference or raised a suspicion that the $5,075, including interest, which the metal products company paid, was a campaign contribution, that it was a contribution by a corporation, which undoubtedly is contrary to Ohio law, and that it was not mentioned in the statement of Cox's campaign expenses when a candidate for governor of Ohio in 1918.

These are serious charges. Unless they are completely refuted, they will make Cox's original allegation that sinister interests have tried to buy the presidency, through contributions to elect Senator Harding for the purposes of using bayonets to suppress labor troubles, more of a boom-erang than ever.

Cox has been put on the defensive and the opposition has become the aggressor in many ways by recent disclosures of the campaign fund investigation. It has been admitted that campaign contributions were demanded from many federal officials through an evasion of the law, by sending letters of solicitation to the homes instead of the offices of the officeholders. Such a holdup of federal employees, with an implied threat that they will lose their jobs if they do not contribute, is odious whether it is technically a violation of law or not.

The Cox special train to the San Francisco convention, with barrels of 2.75 per cent abroad, the expense said to have been paid by checks of Colonel Deeds of aircraft notoriety, does not smell sweet, nor the alleged contribution of $21,000 by the Dayton Metal Products company, already mentioned, a holding company for aircraft concerns, to a Cox campaign fund, said to have been raised under brewery auspices.

The campaign fund inquiry, instigated by Cox, has got entirely out of hand, and Senator James Reed is in a panic over it.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"HELPED ME RIGHT FROM THE START" SAYS MRS. CARTER

"I spent nearly the whole of last fall in bed in a terribly run-down condition, following a bad attack of the influenza, and could find nothing that would relieve me until I took Tanlac," said Mrs. Irma Carter, of 2708 Iglehart avenue, St. Paul, Minn.

"I no more than got over one attack of severe cold and sore throat than I would come down with another. Bad weather aggravated my trouble, and I was simply miserable. My appetite failed and my stomach was in such poor condition that everything I ate bloated me up with gas and I had terrible pains in my chest and kept getting worse all the time."

"I read so much about Tanlac that I finally got a bottle and it helped me from the very start. The pain left my chest before I had even finished the first bottle. I have taken four bottles now and my appetite is so keen that I'm eating like I'd been starved. I have been relieved entirely of bloating and all other signs of indigestion, and have already gained nine pounds in weight. I am enjoying good health again and certainly bless the day I started on Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and J. H. Barrette, in Wing by H. P. Hoffman and in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co.

BAPTISTS WILL CLOSE MEETING THIS EVENING

noon to the state penitentiary was cancelled on account of the conditions out there at present.

A unique dedicatory service took place this noon when an automobile was dedicated in front of the church for Rev. C. J. Hill, state chaplain to use in the gospel work throughout the state. Rev. F. E. Stockton offered the dedicatory prayer, and Rev. J. Wessle made appropriate remarks.

Yesterday, the examination of W. E. Sharp for ordination was held and passed upon. The examining committee consisted of two delegates and a pastor from each church in the state, and of the representatives from New York. Before Mr. Sharp commenced his study for the ministry, he ran a dance hall in Kentucky. He was graduated from high school, at Louisville, Ky., and attended the Southern Baptist Theological seminary at that city. He came to Jamestown recently to accept the position of assistant Y. M. C. A. secretary, and on June 6, he was called to the pastorate of the Jamestown Baptist church. His ordination will take place in the near future at Jamestown.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief, yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN TILLEY, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

END REPRISALS, WARNING GIVEN IRISH SOLDIERS

Commander of Constabulary Tells Troops That Rioting Can't Be Allowed

COUNTER CHARGE MADE

Irish Leader Says That Reprisals Are Calculated Policy of Governments

Limerick, Ireland, Oct. 1.—Two constables were shot and killed last night when a police patrol was fired on.

Dublin, Oct. 1.—Warning against reprisals, no matter what the provocation, was given the Royal Irish Constabulary today by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland in a speech at a distribution of medals. He dwelt on the provocation given the police with 103 of their number murdered, and 170 wounded, but declared no reprisals could be countenanced. He congratulated the men upon their discipline.

"Your duty and mine," he said, "is to arrest criminals and endeavor to prevent crime. I appeal to all Irish people to unite in this endeavor. Reprisals will ruin discipline. They cannot be countenanced by those in authority. The great provocation which the men suffer in seeing their comrades and friends murdered and fully recognized but you are warned in spite of that provocation to maintain that self-control which has marked your forces in the past."

SAYS REPRISALS A PLOT
Dublin, Oct. 1.—Charges state reprisals in Ireland were a calculated policy of the government, that the occasion of them was often ordered by the provocation of agents, who made today by Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein organization.

London, Oct. 1.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, passed another very bad night at Brixton prison where he this morning began the 50th day of his hunger strike. He slept a little before midnight but not after that hour, said a bulletin issued by the Irish self-determination league this forenoon and during the morning was suffering severe pain in his arms and back.

ONE KILLED
Belfast, Oct. 1.—While searching a house in Lisacarrill, County Cork, on Tuesday, a party of military was fired on by civilians. The soldiers returned fire, killing one of their assailants.

ALMOST A SHADOW, AFRAID TO EAT

"My son-in-law was so bad from stomach trouble that he was reduced to almost a shadow and was afraid to eat anything, as all food caused bloating of gas which pressed against his heart, worrying him very much. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. In the winter it is kept inside but with the advent of summer is planted in the yard and seems to thrive very well. It is only able to support two lemons but grows a very fine variety.

PLAN FACTORY FOR STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITY

Would Aid Men in Working Their Way Through Texas University

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 1.—There is something new under the sun. Students of Texas State University have found it.

It is the "student-owned factory," where young men, whose financial circumstances would ordinarily prevent them from attending college, can earn sufficient to put themselves through school.

D. J. Woodward, president of the new company, explains it thus:

"Many young men desire to attend college but cannot do so because of their finances. Previously a few students at each institution could secure jobs waiting on table, or like work. They made a few dollars a week.

"Sam Sparks, J. A. Nichols and R. G. Ogden, local business men, conceived the idea of aiding these students to make more than a few dollars a week by finding some work for them which would net big returns.

"The business men looked around. 'There's need for automobile bodies, box cars and ready-made houses. Still these products can be built without great cash.

"We talked the matter over with the U. S. government. Close by the State University lay Penn Field, with many brick buildings, formerly used by the army. We were offered this cheap. Then we purchased some machinery.

Chance for All

"This year every student will be given a chance to get in his spare time in that factory. He will be paid by piece work. He can make as much as he will. 2c.

"We hope to see the plant become student-owned. Since it is for boys whose finances are not the best, we do not know just how this is going to be worked out, however.

"Some day there will come a solution, however, and the students themselves will be able to take over the factory. Here youths attending the university can work, earning more than enough to see themselves through school. There will be work for one or a thousand."

Students enrolling for the school term here, have taken to the plan. Already over 100 applications for places in the new factory have been received.

I. W. W. LEADER ENDORSES N. P. LEAGUE REGIME

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 1.—Direct action to enforce the rights of the workingmen is being freely urged by speakers at the convention of the I. W. W. agricultural workers' branches which is meeting here by the grace of Governor Lynn J. Frazier. As a first manifestation of this direct action, one of the speakers urged that the Wobblies attending this convention insist on riding the passenger trains on leaving New Rockford, with their red cards for tickets. "The trainmen have no right to put you off," they are being told. "There are enough of you here to make them let you ride free."

Told to Affiliate With League

The convention is in executive session today, and from what little could be learned of the session, this afternoon is largely engaged in the discussion of ways and means. "Big Bill" Haywood, who was the chief speaker at the opening session, has left for Boston. In the course of his address he took occasion to pay a high tribute to the Nonpartisan league, apparently well deserved, since it is largely through the protection promised to the Wobblies by Governor Frazier that this meeting is being held. "You boys want to affiliate with the Nonpartisan league," he told the I. W. W. members. "The Nonpartisan league is a very good thing, though just now it doesn't go quite far enough."

"Men Have Rights in Russia"

Mr. Haywood's plan for solving the present problems of this country is simplicity itself. "Give me 50,000 active I. W. W.'s and a million more to back them up, and we'll seize the industries of the country whether the capitalists like it or not," he told his audience. The present system in Russia came in for high praise. "Men have rights in Russia; they have none in this country," the speaker declared. He also spoke highly in favor of the communist system of education which prevails in Russia.

One of the speakers this morning delivered a vicious attack on the entire system of ownership of farm lands. "Any man who owns more land than he can cultivate with his own hands is a robber—just as much of a robber as the biggest capitalist in the country," he declared, and cheers. Many of the I. W. W. members present are expressing themselves as being in favor of more direct action and less talk.

Wants to See Action

"We have had enough of talks, let's start doing things," one impromptu speaker said to a group of Wobblies on one of the street corners this afternoon, and the sentiment seemed to meet with general approval. So far, with the exception of addresses of an incendiary nature there has been no disorder of any kind. The authorities, however, are keeping a close watch on all groups when congregated on the street. Special precautions are also being taken to prevent any liquor from being circulated among the crowd here for the convention, as it is feared that it might lead to violence. Twenty-seven quarts of whiskey were confiscated Monday night.

On account of the cold weather which struck New Rockford this morning, it is likely that the convention will be brought to an end as soon as possible.

Marriage License.
Judge Davies issued a marriage license to Lydia Schell Bismarck and Stephens J. Fuxa, Medina, yesterday.

BUSIEST THOROUGHFARE IN WORLD IN CHICAGO, NATIVE SONS CLAIM

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The "busiest corner in the world" is at State and Madison streets—say Chicago native sons.

It doesn't look like it—if you go 45 feet underground.

There, at intersecting tunnels, are signs on the walls showing that it's State and Madison. Not a bit of traffic, though—except an occasional trainload of cinders, earth from a building excavation or supplies for a hotel.

You can travel 65 miles in a network of tubes forming the Chicago tunnel system. Few Chicagoans know the tunnels exist, though engineers compare them to the Panama canal as an engineering feat.

Narrow-gauge railroad tracks carry freight trains that do the work of many thousands of horse teams and motor trucks daily relieving traffic on the crowded streets above.

Turtles In Tunnels

When a building is erected there are no long lines of wagons carrying earth and tying up traffic. A connection from the site is made with the tunnel system and the underground trains silently cart away everything from the excavation. It is carried to the lake front. The huge site of the new Field Museum was made by this sort of filling-in.

Ashes, cinders, waste and coal are carried in the freight subway.

Also supplies to hotels. Which accounts for a number of turtles that live in the tunnels—turtles that fell off the train on the way to some hotel kitchen.

"Train crews always stop when they see a turtle on the tracks," said H. L. Creutz, superintendent of transportation. "They think it's bad luck to run over a turtle."

WEATHER BUREAU STOPS BULLETIN UNTIL APRIL 1

The last issue for the season of the daily weather bulletin issued by the United States weather bureau in Bismarck was yesterday. The distribution of the bulletin will be resumed April 1, 1921.

Many business people and farmers make use of the weather bulletin during the growing and harvesting season. All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

In line with a movement that has made splendid progress in the United States during the past year, the young women of Bismarck are planning an organization to be known as "The Business and Professional Women's club" which will be composed of local women who are earning their livelihood, and who want to get into touch with their co-workers for social reasons, and for mutual benefit.

There are an unusually large number of young business women in this city. Many of whom have already pledged themselves to the club, and a drive is now on to obtain the necessary number of charter members to support the club, so that it will be advisable to secure club rooms with adjoining tea rooms. A ready comfortable and convenient rooms have been located, and will be considered at this evening's meeting. A musical program for this evening has been arranged which is as follows: Piano solo, Elizabeth Hapfeldt; solo dance, Katherine Roherty; reading, Miss Duratt, and vocal solo, Jennie Seltzer. Following the regular business meeting the views on the need of the club will be presented by Mrs. Florence Davis, Miss Elsie Stark, Miss Albina Plattner, Dr. Alexander, and Glenn Bruce. It is hoped that every business and professional women in Bismarck will feel that she has been extended an invitation to attend the gathering.

Hanson, who leaves Bismarck this evening for Wisconsin where she will make her future home. A number of vocal numbers were given by Mrs. A. J. White, Mrs. H. E. Flarety, and Mrs. A. H. Barrett. Miss Hazel Tibbets gave a number of readings. At the close of the service of refreshments, Mrs. Hanson was presented with an attractive gold locket containing a rosary.

DR. CAROLINE CRANE
The evening session of the meetings to be held on Oct. 6, will be open to the general public. The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, Kalamazoo, Mich. The following emphasizes the many activities of Mrs. Crane:

It took twenty years' experience to develop Mrs. Crane into what she calls a "professional sanitarian." In 1899 the Rev. Caroline Bartlett was called to Kalamazoo, Michigan, to minister to ministers to the spiritual needs of the handful of people who still clung to the remnants of the Unitarian church left in the city. The Rev. Caroline Bartlett met her new congregation with something like dismay. She has just left her first parish in South Dakota where hardly a member was over forty years of age. Here the faithful remnant included, for the most part, gray-haired men and women. They needed a minister, they explained, for funerals.

In 1913, under the auspices of the state board of health, state department of agriculture and state federation of clubs, Mrs. Crane made a survey of thirteen leading cities in the state of Washington. Here, as in her state-wide campaigns, she was sworn in as a state health officer during the period of her survey.

Mrs. Crane had entered Montgomery, Alabama, at ten minutes past ten Tuesday morning. She left Montgomery on Saturday at the same hour. In the intervening four days she had inspected the waterworks, streets, alleys, sewer system, the incinerator, the county almshouse, two public schools for white children, two public schools for colored children, one high school, the Union Slaughter house, five dairies, four factories and one railroad shed (for the smoke nuisance), six bakeries, the city jail, the county jail, the anti-tuberculosis camp, the hospital for contagious diseases, the city laboratory and free dispensary, six meat markets, four restaurants, one cold storage plant, two moving picture shows, one railway station and one boarding house. Interviewed several city officials, made a study of the administration of the health department, was interviewed by several reporters and made seven speeches before various audiences.

The machinery of Mrs. Crane's household is invisible. The two maids work on an eight hour schedule, at least one on duty every hour in the day. Every duty is carefully planned and the entire household co-operates. Minister to municipalities, some one has called her, and of all the titles invented to cover her peculiar field of work this is the one she likes best.

BLOND ESKIMOS

Capt Joe Bernard has come back to Nome, Alaska, after spending four years in the Arctic hunting for blond Eskimos.

"Only brunets," the half dozen captain said he found.

It will be hard convincing the hardy captain that Stefansson didn't bleach his Eskimos before bringing them to civilization.

Future blond hunters in the Arctic will do well to take with them a liberal supply of peroxide.

But, anyway, why run up to the North Pole looking for blonds, when they may be found nearer home?

Apparently the bakers are experimenting and will achieve the vest-pocket-sized loaf soon.

THE PHOTOGRAPH

Daguerre, in 1820, discovered the principle used in making photographs. He worked on his idea 20 years, and in 1840 the first "sunlight picture" of a human face was made.

The initial success followed failure. Daguerre took an exposed plate from a camera one day, and, discouraged at his inability to make the plate retain the picture, tossed it into a cupboard. Next morning he found the picture on the plate. A dish of mercury, also in the cupboard, had done the work. From then to now the progress of photography has been rapid.

The centennial of the camera sees it snap a flying cannonball, picture a moving world, and catch the smallest wrinkle of the human face.

New York Socialists intend to elect legislators until the assembly gets tired of firing them.

TO INTERVENE

Brazil proposes a venture into government trading. A measure recently introduced in the Chamber of Deputies gives the government "power to intervene as buyer or seller" in commercial markets.

It isn't that the government intends wiping out private business, to engage in state socialism as a substitute to individual initiative, but that the government hopes to stand between the Brazilian producer and loss, and, when necessary, to come between the Brazilian consumer and loss.

The idea being nothing more than this: If prices drop below the cost of production—plus a fair profit—the government will buy of the products enough to hold up the price. When prices go too high—profiteering—then the government steps in and sells enough of the products to lower prices.

These miners' vacations would not be so annoying if Old Boreas would lay-off this winter.

UNDOING THEIR WORK

When German invaders came to the great French coal mines of Lens they dynamited walls and flooded mine shafts, not so much to "win the war" as to block French industrial progress after the war ended.

For that the Germans lost the Saar Basin coal fields.

Now it seems that Germany must not only stand by and see France consume Saar coal, but soon will witness the reopening of the Lens mines. France has worked heroically within Lens. With dynamite and pump the French reconstruction agencies have toiled early and late, making phenomenal progress in undoing the Germans' destruction.

Experts estimate that in 1922 more than a million tons of coal will be mined in sections already reopened.

Explorer Bernard spent four years in the Arctic in a vain search for blond Eskimos. What does anybody want with a blond Eskimo?

HE COMES

Even before the dates for the world series are announced, yet, before the final games are played, a new actor strides upon the stage. In a thousand schools, big and little, and on a thousand fields, the football warrior strides.

Each, no doubt, in the solitude of his mind hopes to become a football Ruth, or Speaker or Cobb. And, no doubt, before the season ends, football will have its Chapman, too. But now, in the optimism of youth, the squads gather accoutered with all the panoply of the game, to spend sunny afternoons in learning sets of hysterious numbers, going through the mechanical tricks evolved by the game's higher minds. The novices fall on the ball, boot and pigskin into long, high spirals and do other things their superiors teach.

Well, let him come—this football hero. It is a great game. It builds up the boy physically, keeps him awake mentally, teaches him poise, self-reliance, self-control, initiative, coolness and speed, both in his mind action and his feet. His "day" comes, the day when he's king or vanished, either the Saturday before Thanksgiving or on Thanksgiving Day. Too bad all of 'em can't be winners.

Henry is determined to put the ford in afford.

The wrong use of TNT is a Taint on civilization.

When a candidate hedges is it fair to say he is fixing his political fences?

A Sioux City, Iowa, goat was sold for $750. That was the owner's rock-ba-a-a-tom price.

Are bow legs more prevalent or is the new style letting man in on the world-old secret?

There's this to be said in favor of the grape juice highball—it doesn't make you miss the last car home.

Candidates may rejoice that although women may vote for them they cannot dictate what neckties they shall wear.

William J. Bryan asserts that he is still a Democrat, but not for Cox for President. He says that at San Francisco the Constitution and the Ten Commandments were traded "for a glass of beer." That doesn't sound much like the silence of the grave. Bryan's is another voice in the air that must worry Cox.

It has taken the League of Nations three months to reach a tentative decision in the quarrel between Sweden and Finland over the Aland Islands. And now the League prays Finland and Sweden remain calm while it sends its investigators to examine the matter at issue at close range. Meanwhile, both parties to the controversy have had extra time in which to increase their armaments. The League enthusiasts who are indulging in premature applause should await apprehensively the outcome of the affair.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of the Tribune. They are sent here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

LET MR. COX EXPLAIN

Governor Cox may have to appear as a witness before the senate campaign fund investigation committee, unless H. E. Talbot, president of the Dayton Metal Products company and president of the City National Bank of Dayton, can clear up entirely the mystery of Mr. Cox's $5,000 note, which was drawn in favor of the bank and paid by the metal products company, according to testimony.

An investigator employed by the Frear aircraft inquiry committee of congress, it is testified, was unable to obtain any explanation of the $5,000 note transaction from officers of the metal products company.

Governor Cox will have to show what was done with the $5,000, which, presumably, he received when he signed the note. Somebody will have to prove that Cox reimbursed the metal products company for paying his note, if it can be proved. G. B. Lockwood, editor of the National Republican, when testifying in the campaign fund inquiry, drew an inference or raised a suspicion that the $5,075, including interest, which the metal products company paid, was a campaign contribution, that it was a contribution by a corporation, which undoubtedly is contrary to Ohio law, and that it was not mentioned in the statement of Cox's campaign expenses when a candidate for governor of Ohio in 1918.

These are serious charges. Unless they are completely refuted, they will make Cox's original allegation that sinister interests have tried to buy the presidency, through contributions to elect Senator Harding for the purposes of using bayonets to suppress labor troubles, more of a boomerang than ever.

Cox has been put on the defensive and the opposition has become the aggressor in many ways by recent disclosures of the campaign fund investigation. It has been admitted that campaign contributions were demanded from many federal officials through an evasion of the law, by sending letters of solicitation to the homes instead of the offices of the officeholders. Such a holdup of federal employees, with an implied threat that they will lose their jobs if they do not contribute, is odious whether it is technically a violation of law or not.

The Cox special train to the San Francisco convention, with barrels of 2.75 per cent abroad, the expense said to have been paid by checks of Colonel Deeds of aircraft notoriety, does not smell sweet, nor the alleged contribution of $21,000 by the Dayton Metal Products company, already mentioned, a holding company for aircraft concerns, to a Cox campaign fund, said to have been raised under brewery auspices.

The campaign fund inquiry, instigated by Cox, has got entirely out of hand, and Senator James Reed is in a panic over it.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"HELPED ME RIGHT FROM THE START" SAYS MRS. CARTER

"I spent nearly the whole of last fall in bed in a terribly run-down condition, following the attack of the influenza, and could find nothing that would relieve me until I took Tanlac," said Mrs. Irma Carter, of 2706 Iglehart avenue, St. Paul, Minn.

"I no more than got over one attack of severe cold and sore throat than I would come down with another. Bad weather aggravated my trouble, and I was simply miserable. My appetite failed and my stomach was in such poor condition that everything I ate bloated me up with gas and I had terrible pains all the time. I kept getting worse all the time."

"I read so much about Tanlac that I finally got a bottle and it helped me from the very start. The pain left my chest before I had even finished the first bottle. I have taken four bottles now and my appetite is so keen that I'm eating like I'd been starved. I have been relieved entirely of bloating and all other signs of indigestion, and have already gained nine pounds in weight. I am enjoying good health again and certainly bless the day I started on Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and J. H. Barrette, in Willing by H. P. Hoeman and in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co. —adv.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief, —yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN THERR, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

LEPROSY HAS BEEN CONQUERED BY U. S. BUREAU

Forty-eight Sufferers of Disease Recovered Under New Treatment of Malady

CURE NOT ESTABLISHED

Washington, Oct. 1.—(By Associated Press).—Leprosy, a scourge of humanity since early history, apparently has been conquered by officers of the United States Public Health Service in the leper colony at Kalahe, Hawaii. Forty-eight sufferers of the dreaded malady, who have been subjected to a new method of treatment, have recovered to such extent as to warrant their release on parole and after a year, not one has shown a symptom of recurrence.

No Cure Announced.

As yet, no announcement of a "cure" has been made officially for some of the government medical experts are frankly skeptical of the results. It may be years before an official and final opinion is given.

The limit of the official claim is set forth in a joint report to the Public Health Service made by Dr. J. T. McDonald, Director of the leprosy investigation station and superintendent physician at Kalahe hospital, and by President A. L. Dean, of the University of Hawaii, as follows:

"It has been sufficiently established that chaulmoogra oil contains one or more agents which exert a marked therapeutic action in many cases of leprosy. We can not say as yet that the disease is cured, since we have no test adequate to establish such a verdict. Whether or not the apparent cures are real and permanent, it is evident that we have a valuable agent at our disposal in the control of the disease."

Chaulmoogra oil in its crude state is no new drug for the treatment of leprosy, but in its raw form it proved so nauseating and painful to patients that it had to be discontinued. Science turned toward its derivatives and Dr. McDonald and Dean report it was found that the ethyl of the fatty acids were thin fluid oils lending themselves readily to intramuscular injections and were readily absorbed.

Injection of the oil derivatives by a syringe has brought a new hope to the leper, for at Kalahe hospital "injection therapy" is described by the doctors' report as an occasion for merrymaking though of painful experience for the sufferers.

"The standard treatment," the report says, "now consists in weekly injections of a preparation which consists of the mixed ethyl esters of the acids of chaulmoogra oil with two percent of iodine in chemical combination. The amount used starts at one cubic centimeter and is gradually increased to a maximum of four or five cubic centimeters for adults."

Iodine Liniment.

Accessory treatments of iodine liniment, ointments and sun baths are employed as measures to improve the general health and mental attitude of the patients.

Dr. McDonald and Dean are of the opinion that leprosy of the nerve type as well as the nodular cases should be treated by new treatment. They report astonishing results with this new treatment.

"We believe our remedies arrest the disease," they say regarding the nerve cases, "and prevent further destruction of hands and fingers, even when, as in long-standing cases, normal function can not be fully restored."

"During the past year we have done better than simply arrest the destructive process, we have had the great satisfaction of seeing marked improvement in a considerable number of cases, purely nodular cases, and apparently a complete recovery."

One young man who came in with a decidedly ataxic gait, unable to raise his body on his toes and with one so weak and deformed that he had been compelled to abandon the use of the typewriter a year before entering, so far improved before his parole that his disability in walking had not only disappeared but he became one of the leading tennis players and one of the swiftest runners in the colony.

Results Use of Fingers.

"A woman with all fingers absorbed to less than half their original length, after a year's treatment, began to write, to sew and knit, and to do many movements and functions which she had for years been deprived of."

Regarding the virulent form of leprosy, the doctors report that in many cases the lesions disappear, except scars and permanent injuries, and the leprosy bacillus can no longer be demonstrated.

In the continental United States, there are 200 known sufferers of leprosy, but Public Health officials believe that 10 times that number exist, known only to the family doctor. The Louisiana state leper hospital at Carville has been bought by the government and the Public Health Service plans to enlarge it so as to provide facilities for the treatment of 500 patients. Dr. O. E. Denny, who is expected to be placed in charge of the new hospital, plans to build the "best laboratory in the world" for the study of leprosy. Treatment like that given at Kalahe will be followed at the Louisiana hospital, and research also will be conducted with a view of discovering a new "cure" and for improving the new method.

When the Chicago Cubs visited Marion to call upon Senator Harding and to play an exhibition baseball game with Marion for him, the Republican nominee for President took occasion to do a little pitching himself. The thousands of spectators commented upon his effective delivery.

GOOD BEHAVIOR GAINS TIME OFF FOR HARDBOILED

Soldier Convicted of Mistreatment of Service Men is Given His Release

Washington, October 1.—Former Lieut. Frank H. "Hardboiled" Smith, who was convicted by court martial in France for brutal treatment of American soldiers prisoners and sentenced to 15 months in prison, was paroled from Fort Jay, N. Y. May 29 and since that time his sentence reduced for good behavior, has expired. It was stated at the war department, Smith began serving his sentence in France May 21, 1919 and was transferred to Fort Jay in July. It was stated at the department that because of his good behavior in prison he was given a "home parole" after serving approximately 8 months. He was required to report monthly. Standing his sentence was reduced to 14 months.

PEOPLE GROAN AS MOONSHINE GOES IN STREET

Danville, Va., Oct. 1.—Revenue agents poured out of the streets here today 200 gallons of moonshine whiskey captured in a recent raid. One of the bootleggers who attempted to escape was shot.

As the heavy barrels were slammed against the curb and headed for the drain, spreading its rich aroma in the air, crowds that watched the "wrecking crew" blocked traffic and cheering a barrel was broken a gallon went up.

John Lee Anderson, a negro, could not resist the temptation. He grabbed a streamer, took a swig, cupped his hands and drank, and then of other fornication mother drunk and long he went to the courthouse and fined.

A 100 lb. barrel of moonshine is per gallon a dollar and a half. A barrel of 100 lbs. is worth $150.

METAL PLANES BRING DEATHS; SEEKING CAUSE

Four Pilots Killed, but Experts Believe They Can Correct Plane Defects

VIBRATION IS GREAT

BY GEORGE B. WATERS, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 1.—While four pilots of the air mail service have been killed recently while flying all-metal planes, experts of the service believe they have discovered how to correct the faults in the planes. Meanwhile, the service has discontinued flying four other all-metal planes.

These new planes, it was stated at the Air Mail Service today, have a rough motor, caused from high compression, making the plane capable of remarkable performance in efficiency for the small amount of gasoline used. The vibration is great and by shaking the gasoline lines from the tank to the engine, causes them to crack. The gasoline leaks out, instead of going into the carburetor. This causes a lean mixture in the carburetor, resulting in backfire, which ignites the gasoline.

Is Being Corrected.

This is being corrected by removing a section of the copper gas line and replacing it with rubber tube. Then over the entire line two layers of tape and shellac will be placed. This should prevent further loss of life from this cause, experts say. Excepting this defect, these planes are said to be the best made today. They lift as much with 15 horse-power engines as others in the service do with 800 horse-power motors.

The four flyers killed recently, could have saved their lives, had they been flying high enough. It is believed, a fire in a plane can be put out by turning it on its side and "slide-slipping" 2000 feet.

No explosion takes place in the air, experts believe. This happens when the flames are overcome with fumes and let the planes hit the ground hard. These metal planes are supposed to be fire proof.

The men killed recently were: Max Miller, pilot, Sept. 1, at New Vernon, N. J., and Gustav Relsom, his mechanic; Walter Stephens, pilot, Sept. 11, at Pemberton, O., and Russell Thomas, his mechanic. Both crews were in Junker-Larsen all-metal planes.

Six Others Killed.

Since the air mail service was inaugurated, May 15, 1918, six other pilots have been killed actually carrying mail. They were:

McCusker, at Cleveland, May 25, 1919, DeHavilland plane. He just witnessed accident in which another pilot was horribly burned and, when he saw smoke, he jumped 200 feet to save himself similar fate.

C. W. Lamborne, at Bellefonte, Pa., July 19, 1919, DeHavilland plane, flying in bad weather; cause unknown.

L. W. Doty, near Baltimore, Oct. 15, 1919, Curtiss R. struck tree making landing.

J. P. Charleston, at Long Valley, N. J., Oct. 30, 1919, DeHavilland plane, hit top of mountain while descending through clouds.

R. W. Stoner, at Black Oak, Ind., March 10, 1920, DeHavilland plane, flying in fine weather, failed to observe chimney on Tiffany Jewelry factory and struck it.

Other fatalities in connection with the Air Mail Service, but not caused by actually carrying mail, were:

Carl B. Smith, pilot, killed Dec. 16, 1918, at Ellsworth, N. J., while demonstrating his ability to fly August Thiele, mechanic, Jan. 7, 1919, fell in front of blade while starting propeller.

Stapleton, clerk, killed at Newark, N. J., April 11, 1920; R. W. Wright, pilot, at Newark, April 11, 1920; W. J. McCandless, superintendent at Gettysburg, Pa., May 12, 1920, N. C. Month, mechanic, Martin Field, Ill., June 7, 1920; Charles Mandula, helper, Checkersburg, Field, Aug. 8, 1920; Robert Gantler, pilot, College Park, Aug. 22, 1920; Michael Violin, a boy, 8, wandered onto the Newark field and was killed by a propeller.

The total fatalities have been 19 in 28 months. About a dozen have been injured.

50 to 60 Flying.

Compared to other services, we consider that the fatalities in the mail

GERMANY HAS LITTLE FEAR OF RED ARMY

Berlin, Oct. 1.—Only romancers and dreamers believe that Russian Red army will eventually strike at Germany and seek to establish a soviet here with the aid of which it will make war on France, declares Wilhelm Dittman, the independent socialist member of the Reichstag.

Dittman, who was one of the German delegates to the Moscow communist congress, in an article in the Freiheit turns upon bolshevism, which he declares, is an impossible system which can exist only in Russia because of the "crass ignorance of the Russian peasants."

"German workmen," he goes on, "who are not two-legged beasts but unspending human beings, would never submit to the dictatorship of a few." He says they have nothing in common with men who are socialists nor communists and generally have only a vague understanding of politics, government and society.

"They are mostly unable to read and write," Dittman continues, "and their horizon hardly extends beyond their own thresholds. As might have been the case of the German peasants of the middle ages. And these men constitute 75 per cent of the entire population of the country."

"Intense passion and high ardor have identified soviet Russia as a land where all the wrongs of the proletariat have an end. Hitherto the exclusion of soviet Russia from western Europe has helped to crystallize and firmly establish these illusory conceptions," Dittman concludes.

'UNCLE' WILBERT TELLS HOW HIS BOYS WON FLAG

Team Made Up of Castoffs but They Play Ball When Handled Right, He Says

GIVES PLAYERS CREDIT

As told to Dean Snyder
BY WILBERT ROBINSON
Brooklyn, Oct. 1.—Eating breakfast off a round table in one's hotel apartment in New York with the wife on the morning after driving the nail in the National League pennant would make any normal human being feel pretty kitchy even though he were a grandpa at the mellow age of 56. That's exactly the way Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson acted and felt when this interview was pulled off.

He was in a gala mood. His eyes sparkled with the snap of a 16-year-old boy getting ready to take in his first circus.

Between bites he chuckled reminiscently. He joked Ma Robinson across the table of ham and eggs. He sang out yards of praise about his ball club that had made the great fight. He laughed over the eccentricities of Squire Elbert. And of the Douglases' part in the coming world series he opined fluently.

Steady Old Boys.
"Yep, my boys are mostly castoffs all right. But I like 'em. They've got the good old steady goods if you handle 'em right."

"I put my boys on the back instead of bawling them out when they made mistakes. A manager, who is continually finding fault with his players, will soon have them playing half-hearted baseball."

"If one of them makes a mistake I just tell him that we'll make it up next time. And he does."

Credits Players.
"I don't try to assume the attitude of knowing it all. I give them credit for knowing some baseball themselves."

"Ball players like to have a little fun while they are playing. They like to work together and help each other if given a chance. So I've tried to make them feel like a family."

"Last spring, when we played the Yankees at Jacksonville and won 10 games out of 16 from them I figured right then and there that we were good enough to win the pennant and that if we were capable of taking a pennant that we could win the world series."

Change Helps.
"My team has been called a team of misfits—castoffs, you know. Well, they are all right. The only players on the team who cannot be classed as castoffs are Pitcher Cadore and Outfielders Wheat and Myers."

"Changing clubs has helped many players for one thing and if you encourage them why there's always a lot of good baseball left in them."

Winning ball games is largely a matter of getting the let's go, boys, all together and do your best spirit.

Pennant Spirit.
"All year I've told them they could win the pennant. They believed me and came through."

"As for my pitching staff, I was once a catcher. They say I know how to handle them and get results."

"My theory in developing pitchers is to make their legs strong. Sounds funny I know. But how often have you seen a pitcher begin to blow about the fifth or sixth inning. In

WEDDING BELLS WILL RING AGAIN FOR RUBE AFTER THE SERIES

After the world series is over—win, lose or draw—Rube Marquard, one of the Dodgers' star left-handers, will shortly embark on the second sea of matrimony. She is Miss Naomi Malone, prominent Baltimore society girl. He secured his divorce from Blossom Seely, vaudeville actress, several weeks ago. Miss Malone is a close friend of Mrs. Wilbert Robinson and a baseball fan from the first ball pitched until the last man is out in the ninth inning rally. So it's wedding bells as well as pennant bells for the "$11,000 beauty," who fizzled for John McGraw but became a great pitcher for Your Uncle Wilbert. Yep! Rube can use the world series change all right.

the majority of cases it's his legs that have weakened, not his arm.

Robbie's Theory.
"The strain of coming down on one's leg with the delivery of every ball is the hardest part of pitching. When the legs wobble it ruins a pitcher's stride and with it goes his effectiveness and control."

"The way I keep my pitchers' legs strong is to give them a lot of work chasing flies in the outfield on off days when they aren't working in the box."

It's the Legs.
"The pitchers with the help of a trainer will never do look out to keep their salary arm in condition. In their legs I look out for that part of it. When they are doing long fly balls they are also developing their wrist."

Several other managers are using my system to keep their pitchers in shape. They are finding it successful. Connie Mack was quick to the trick and is making fly-chasers out of all his pitching recruits."

"My boys think they can win the world series. They are playing the best ball of their careers. I think they are good enough to cop, too. The National League has better pitchers than the American this year, it seems. I've got seven of the best ones on my team. That ought to be enough."

His Pulse Normal.
So there you are. That's the way your Uncle Wilbert feels about copping the pennant and also the world series. In a nutshell.

The cast-off idea doesn't bother him one little. The Boston Braves cut the back with a team made up mainly of discards in '14. Likewise the Phillies of '15, the Robins of '16, the Cubs of '18 and the Reds of last year.

So you see Uncle Wilbert's pulse is just as normal as the sinking of the old tea kettle on the new kitchen range.

MINNESOTA WILL MEET DAKOTA U

Only Game of Importance Scheduled for Northrop Field Minneapolis

SEASON FORMALLY OPENS

North Dakota Aggies to Play Jamestown College Team Saturday

COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR OCT. 2
North Dakota vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis.

RIVER FALLS (Wis.) Normal vs. Carleton at Northfield.
Luther Seminary vs. Macalester at Luther.
Hamline vs. Stout Institute at Menominee, Wis.
La Crosse Normal vs. St. Thomas College at St. Paul.
Mount St. Charles vs. Montana State School of Mines at Butte.
Yankton College vs. Creighton at Omaha.
Jamestown College vs. North Dakota Aggies at Fargo.
South Dakota State Normal vs. Northern Normal and Industrial School at Aberdeen.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—University and college football teams over the northwest will get into action tomorrow, Oct. 2, with most of the games of the preliminary variety.

The only game of first importance to a minor college is the University of North Dakota against the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. The North Dakota institution looks upon this game as the most important of their schedule. Coach Paul Jones Davis is working his squad overtime in an effort to catch the Minnesota team at a point of development not sufficient to stop his outfit, which is composed largely of veterans.

Hamline university of St. Paul has a team composed almost entirely of letter men, who won the state championship last season, and Coach Harold Hanson, formerly of the University of Minnesota, is making preparations to duplicate last season's success. Stout Institute of Menominee, Wis., will be Hamline's opponent at that city.

Coach Gus Eckberg of St. Thomas college, St. Paul, will put his squad against LaCrosse Normal of LaCrosse, Wis. With a few veterans, Coach Eckberg hopes to be able to develop a machine which, although light, will have sufficient driving power to be in the championship running. Tomorrow's game will be played at St. Paul.

Macalester college will open against Phenix Luther, a local institution with a team of undetermined power. The Macalester squad is probably the lightest of the state college entries. Carleton college at Northfield will coach Hunt back at the helm, hopes to follow the old Hunt leadership, turning out a championship team. Hunt will send his outfit against the River Falls (Wis.) Normal school team at Northfield. Although disappointment has resulted from the failure of some of last year's stars to return to school this year, indications are that Hunt will have a fast heavy squad from which to develop his machine.

St. Olaf college, also of Northfield, got away to a flying start last Saturday with a 54 to 7 win over the old tea kettle on the new kitchen range.

Luther Seminary team of St. Paul. The St. Olaf team showed a strong, fast line with a well balanced backfield that had plenty of drive against the lighter team.

The North Dakota Agricultural college team at Fargo, under Coach S. E. Borlesko, will meet the Jamestown college team at Fargo. The Fargo team is an uncertain quality, according to Coach Borlesko, but the Jamestown outfit has a number of veterans.

Fargo college, coached by F. H. Watkins, winner of several state championships, goes into action against the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, October 9. Watkins has a light green squad.

South Dakota State college of Brookings will get its first start against the Northern Normal and Industrial school at Aberdeen, and Yankton college meets Creighton college at Omaha. The University of South Dakota does not start its season until October 9, when it meets Sioux Falls college at Vermillion.

NEW WHITE SOX MADE BIG FOR PENNANT TODAY

Start Series With St. Louis Which May Prove Deciding Factor in A. L. Race

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis prepared today to open the series that may prove the deciding factor in the American League pennant race. Three games will be played, the final contest Sunday bringing the 1920 campaign to a close.

Trailing Cleveland, the league leaders, by a game and a half, the Sox still have a chance to finish in first place and enter the lists with Brooklyn for the supremacy of the majors. Today's game will be the first in which the Sox have participated since the gambling expose in Chicago earlier in the week that resulted in the suspension of seven members of the club.

TRY AGAIN ON LEONARD MATCH

Cleveland, Oct. 1.—Another attempt will be made tonight to stage the ten-round bout between Benny Leonard, light-weight champion and Jack Britton, holder of the welterweight title. The men were scheduled to meet last night at American league park here but the match was postponed until tonight because of rain and cold weather.

ALL BASEBALL GAMES DELAYED

New York, Oct. 1.—The scheduled games in the National and American league yesterday were postponed on account of rain. The clubs will resume play tomorrow, with the American league race still undecided, while the remaining contests in the National league will be merely the formality of completing the schedule. Brooklyn having clinched the pennant Tuesday.

CARLETON GETS ACTION SATURDAY

Northfield, Minn., Oct. 1.—Carleton college warriors will line up for their first battle of the season, when the Blue and Malise clashes with River Falls normal school, Minn., on Laird gridiron, Northfield, Saturday afternoon.

River Falls is reported to have a strong team this year. Many of last year's veterans are back on the line and anxious to make amends for last year's defeat, when Carleton won out a 6-0 victory.

"Of course, why not?" he responded. "The present owners obtained it by robbery, and are keeping it by robbery."

"And do you think that program will ever be carried out?" I asked curiously.

"John Smith" took a deep breath. "I do, thanks to the Nonpartisan League," he said.

And turning he went up the stairs to the hall in which the I. W. W. were in session, from the windows of which a chorus sung by a hundred or more men's voices could be heard. These were the words they sung:

"All hail to the bold Bolsheviks.
We will fight for our class and be free.
A kaiser, king or czar, no matter who you are,
You're nothing of interest to me.
If you don't like the Red Flag of Russia,
If you don't like the spirit so true,
Then be like the cur in the story
And lick the hand that's robbing you."

The petition is directed against E. G. Patterson and Warden L. L. Stair, of the penitentiary.

A summons was issued on the defendants calling on them to appear in court on Oct. 2 (Saturday) at 2 p. m. to show cause, if any, why a temporary injunction should not issue.

Worn Out In Mind and Body

Your child is quick to observe disturbances in your mental attitude or physical condition. And when he asks: "What's the matter, Daddy?" there's a tone of solemn anxiety in his little voice. The depression stamped upon you reflects intensely upon him because of his profound solicitude. He at once drops his playthings and rushes to your side, but his happy smile has disappeared and his buoyant spirits are gone—replaced by a countenance of worry and a bearing of hopelessness.

You owe it to the happiness and welfare of your family to keep him in body and in mind. You are the sun and the inspiration of their lives. Dark, threatening clouds hover over their heads the instant you show signs of being "out of sorts" or "under the weather." Don't imperil their future by neglecting your health.
